

GOLDMAN SACHS: The GS Guide to Bengaluru

Opened in 2004, our Bengaluru office supports engineering innovation at the firm and is one of our largest offices in the world.

Designed and built for GS and LEED Platinum Certified, our office is located in the Helios Business Park

Bengaluru is located at an elevation of 900 meters or 3000 feet on the Deccan Plateau

We provide transportation with 30 kilometers of the office

Bengaluru is the startup capital of India and has seeded 7,000 plus startups to date

The energy and buzz of our people is palpable and invigorating

We have an innovation room to encourage brainstorming

Bengaluru was designed with plenty of parks and green spaces. At 300 acres, Cubbon Park is a landmark 'lung' area

Our office has an incredible art collection, including a mural by the transgender community

The pub capital of India with over 800 pubs and bars, and some great microbreweries

Bengaluru FC competes in one of the top leagues on Indian Football

Quotes:

- “Of all the Indian cities and towns I’ve lived in, this is by far the coolest. It’s got the opportunities that a big city offers, but still retains the soul of a charming small town” – Meghna, Finance
- “My favorite Community TeamWorks project was planting trees in the neighborhood – ecological and sustainable” – Arindam, Global Investment Research
- “We have traditional days for local festivals. Bengaluru is very cosmopolitan, equally celebrating Christmas, Diwali, EID and Ugadi” – Issac, Global Markets
- “The Royal Challengers Cricket Team is based in Bengaluru – playing in the Indian Premier League” – Gopal, Controllers

Fun times:

- Our annual Cricket tournament
- Family Day celebrations
- Indian Republic and Independence Days
- Traditional Attire Day during Diwali
