

GOLDMAN SACHS: The GS Guide to Shenzhen

Our Shenzhen office resides in one of China's fastest growing cities, a capital of innovation, creativity and international influence with great exposure to opportunities the Greater Bay Area offers

Shenzhen is the sixth largest city in China

Our offices are at 1 Zhong Xin Si Road 16th floor Kerry Plaza, Tower One Futian District

In 1980 Shenzhen was just a small town of 30,000 people. That same year, it became China's first special economic zone. As a firm we have been here long enough to embrace an entrepreneurial spirit and expand into private wealth management business as we continue to see the city take off

Situated in the heart of the Futian District, 'Coco Park Shopping Center' has sprawling architecture filled with food, fashion and entertainment outlets

Shenzhen is also known as the "Silicon Valley of China." It has become a global hub for scientific and technological advances and start-ups

Easy transportation access to travel between Hong Kong and Shenzhen

Shenzhen is the second largest financial center in mainland China. The Shenzhen / Hong Kong stock exchanges helps with trading across markets
